Glandore provides flexible workspace solutions including virtual offices, coworking, meeting and event spaces and private offices for companies of all sizes and at all stages of growth. The diverse range of member businesses that the company houses include early-stage indigenous start-ups and entrepreneurs, freelancers, SMEs, international scale-ups and large multinationals across all industries. Glandore strives to give their member businesses the very best start to their operations in Ireland. They have been proud to provide the first landing space and EMEA headquarters for many larger multinationals such as Facebook, Twitter, Worldpay, Eaton Corporation, Dropbox, Autodesk and Reddit.

The Glandore team have also been hugely inspired by the ambition and success of the many Irish start-ups and SMEs that they have accommodated since 2001. Through their Glandore Network and events series, they facilitate unique networking opportunities between their indigenous and international start-ups, alumni and the wider business community to foster collaboration and innovation. As a family business led by three sisters, Glandore is passionate about promoting diversity and inclusion in the workplace and mindful of the obstacles that prevent women realizing their full potential. The annual 'Hear from Her' event seeks to connect, support and celebrate inspiring women in the business community.

"Glandore is thrilled to support the Starting Strong initiative and I look forward to meeting and getting to know the ambitious and exceptional entrepreneurs in this cycle. Glandore firmly believes in the power of community, peer collaboration and shared insights in accelerating business growth and we hope that through our wide network and experience in accommodating early stage start-ups we can be of tangible support to the participants".
