Change Angels

Joanna Koprowicz is an Agile – Lean trainer and consultant, who is an expert in Business Agility, Agile-Lean Transformations and the Development of High Performing Agile Teams. Agile business strategies embrace the opportunity of uncertainty and are the most suitable approach in unstable business environments and when you are competing in a fast-changing marketplace.

With a background in business and technology, Joanna developed a career in consulting, coaching and leadership development, working on bringing a positive change across a wide range of organisations and sectors, including the Financial Sector, the Travel Industry, Aviation, E-learning and Gaming.

In 2018, Joanna set up Change Angels, providing coaching, consulting and training to start-ups and multinational corporations. Her focus now is on growing the business significantly by developing a Consulting Agency providing services in the area of building organizational resilience, by partnering with other Agile-Lean Coaches and Consultants in Ireland and abroad. By working with multiple trainers across various countries, Joanna hopes to provide customised training and consultancy, meeting the needs of each individual organization.

Joanna has a Masters in Project Management from University College Dublin Michael Smurfit Business School. In addition, she holds numerous Agile certifications and is a provider of Agile and Lean Training and Consulting to clients of Enterprise Ireland, IDA and the Local Enterprise Offices. She is also authorized by the International Consortium for Agile to run the certified ICP-AHR (Agile HR) and ICP- LEA (Agile Leadership) trainings.

She has helped to coordinate Agile-Lean events internationally, including the Global Scrum Gathering in Vienna and is a board member of Agile-Lean Ireland and Agile-Lean International, the fastest growing Agile Community in Ireland.
