Penco Post

Penco Post is a premier post-production service, dedicated to evolving the industry through personalised attention to each client and project. Jennifer Connolly, the founder and owner of Penco Post, has a wealth of knowledge and experience spanning two decades in post-production.

With access to a global network of top-tier creative professionals, Penco Post have the expertise and resources to tackle projects of any magnitude. What truly distinguishes Penco Post is their unwavering commitment to offering a bespoke post-production service. They understand that every project is unique, with its own set of challenges, objectives, and artistic vision. That's why they approach each project with a fresh perspective, tailoring every aspect of the post-production process to align seamlessly with the specific needs and goals.

Jennifer 'casts' the right creative teams to work on each project, selected for capability not just availability. She also manages the budget with the agency, production company and brands directly, overseeing the successful delivery of every project from start to finish.

Jennifer believes in the power of collaboration. She sees Penco Post not just as service providers, but as partners invested in the success of their clients' creative projects. By working closely with the client every step of the way, she ensures that the vision is realised to its fullest potential, delivering results that exceed expectations.

Whether embarking on a small-scale independent production or a large-scale commercial venture, Penco Post have the flexibility and expertise to meet all needs.
